What the game is about

Paintball is challenging and fast-paced. Each team starts at separate sides of the playing fields. A starting signal is given and each team tries to reach the other team's flag station while eliminating all the players on the opposing team. When a player gets tagged or hit by a paintball he/she is out of the game. If a player is carrying a flag when tagged, he/she must drop the flag at that spot, and then leave the game. Elimination is a popular game as well; this is simply where one team eliminates the other and whoever does it the fastest wins the game. There are many different types of games, all fun and safe. A trained referee monitors all games and a orientation is given prior to playing that goes over all the rules and how to play.

What to wear

Dress appropriate for the weather, but keeping as much skin covered as possible. Gloves are also nice to have. A bandana is a nice, cheap and effective way to cover your neck. Good running shoes or boots will keep your feet happy. A baseball cap or beanie is also a good idea to cover your head and your hair. Lastly, if you are inclined to jump, dive, or other hero-like actions, we recommend elbow and kneepads. If any questions look up at our website at www.santaclarapaintball.com
